

Prized for Generations

Hydrastis canadensis, a/k/a/ Goldenseal, has been revered for centuries as an amazing panacea, and heralded by traditional healers as “God’s gift to mankind”. These claims are substantiated by a long history of use as an anti-infective and remedy for various digestive disorders such as indigestion and diarrhea. The plant became a potent asset in the arsenal of the 19th and early 20th century physicians.

Driven by consumer demand for natural health enhancing products, Goldenseal’s popularity continued to grow to the point that, by the end of the 20th century, the plant was designated an internationally protected species. This led to a reduction in consumer access to the plant and its benefits.

Preserved today by Family Farms

Committed to sustainable production, reliable potency, and uncompromising purity, BotaniPharm, LLC is a cooperative effort of 14 small family operated farms dedicated to the conservation of goldenseal through cultivation and production of the highest quality goldenseal products possible.

Sustainable Production

Botanipharm members produce goldenseal in natural forest environments. All Goldenseal Advanced Liquid Dietary Supplements carry the USDA Organic seal providing assurance that the raw material has not been wild collected and that the organic integrity of the product was not compromised during the production process.

Reliable Potency

Wild collected goldenseal is, by definition, produced in an uncontrolled environment leading to extreme swings in product potency and reliability.

Botanipharm’s patented standardization method matches the activity of each batch of final product to that of a known reference standard. This results in a product that works the same every time!!

Uncompromising Purity

Processed in an FDA Good Manufacturing Practices compliant facility, each batch of Goldenseal Advanced must meet more than 16 specifications before the product is released for sale.
